Hello!

My name is Suyeon Kim, an aspiring frontend web developer / Interactive media designer. I believe that the more I experience the more I become creative. Every experience inspires me. Currently, the most inspiring experience is the time I spent in Japan. Living in Japan for one year, I learned their language and culture, and I realized that the culture is embodied in the language. This enlightenment led me to have an interest in computer languages. Surrounded by digital environments, I wanted to learn how people make visually attractive designs with a computer, especially by using computer languages. After learning various hard skills and doing some projects, I realized that creating gives me a sense of achievement and keeps me motivated.
